MILITARY TRAINING

Whenever any body of men assemble in an effort to correct an evil or to promote a reform, there are many ludicrous opinions advanced. Just so in this country now when it is proposed to give military training to the citizenship of the nation many impractical opinions have gotten into the press. The proposal to establish military camps where business men may have two months of military training during the year is highly impractical. The man at the head of a business cannot be spared for two months at a time. Situations would be lost and there would be great financial loss under such a system. It is extremely doubtful if Senator Owen's plan can ever be made practical. He proposes for the government to give jobs to the jobless and order them military training and in order that the government not lose all the money spent in hiring these people he would require them to do a certain amount of road work. There is a mixture of duties that would dissipate energy and destroy results in the Owen plan. There are not very many red-blooded young men out of jobs, and the military protection of the nation should not be entrusted to the hands that cannot find something remunerative to do in these busy United States in ordinary prosperous times and especially at this time when there is a demand for all farm products and when the factories can scarcely meet the demands made upon them.

There is always a right way to perform every useful thing needed to be accomplished, and the right way is always easy because it is the natural way. Any young man, before he enters upon a business career of earning a livelihood can become a fairly good soldier within a year. The regular army can be divided up into schools where military training can be direct and effective, and many thousands of young men could be trained each year in this way. There are millions of young men who never have an opportunity to get away from home. They never have an opportunity to see any of the world, and this year offered them in a military camp would be a revelation to them. They would return to their homes broadened mentally, and from a physical standpoint they would be better men. The whole course of the lives of many would be changed for the better. This plan, persistently carried out, would within a few years place at the disposal of the country a vast army of trained men. And they would be of the best men of the country, and not of the professional job-hunting class.

USURIOUS INTEREST RATES

It is almost certain that the present legislature will pass a usury law more stringent than the one on the statutes. The legislature is attempting to punish the class of bankers who have made pawn shops of their institutions and are trying to make the credit good of the man who has failed to build up his own credit. It is doubtful if either result can be accomplished by legislation.

Whenever loans must be made at ten per cent or not made at all, there will be many fellows who have been borrowing small sums each year who will be denied credit. The result will bring a hardship for the time being, and it may eventually force some of the small farmers who have not the ability to build up a credit to quit farming on their own account and to work on the plantation of the man who has the ability to borrow money and to direct labor so that it will earn more than when it is not directed.

Such a law may produce a wholesome effect in doing away with some of the credit that has been indulged in in this country and again it may do some good in forcing men to be careful about their credit. The average loan of the small farmer is $200 a year. Interest on that loan would be $20. The banker cannot, for this amount of interest, go to inspect a crop or live stock, he cannot send collectors out, and make money on loans of that kind. The result will be that the farmer will have to build his own credit up to the point where the money lender will take his word about live stock and crop acreage and condition.

Bankers who have gone before the legislature have advised that money can be cheapened by the removal of taxes, but the legislature will probably not do that. The same argument might be made in reference to land, that rents would be cheaper if taxation were removed.

It is doubtful if the question of usury can be solved by law. It is a problem that must be solved, each man for himself.

The federal government started the inquiry through the comptroller of the currency. When statements were requested of banks, the minimum and maximum rates of interest were asked and the answers to these questions revealed the facts that some of the loans had been made at as high as an annual interest rate as 300 per cent. The government then set out to make further inquiry and to correct the evil, and this gave much publicity to usurious interest rates.

The business of raising food and clothing for the world is too sacred to allow men who engage in that business to be kept so poor that they can scarcely live themselves and the government which started the inquiry has the remedy in a rural credit plan which makes the government itself the basis of credit for agricultural purposes. In our opinion, until such a plan is worked out in detail, agriculture will not have an opportunity to ascend to the prominence it ought to occupy.

HOW BRAZIL CO-OPERATES

The manner in which the South American republics can co-operate with this country in matters of commerce is illustrated in a cablegram from the American embassy in Brazil to the state department at Washington. From its regular tariff schedule Brazil will reduce the tariff on flour from the United States 70 per cent and a 20 per cent reduction will be

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; this cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have, sallow skins, blood disorders and sticky complexions, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside-bathing before breakfast.

given on condensed milk, certain manufactures of rubber, clocks, watches, printing inks, varnishes, typewriters, scales, refrigerators, planes, windmills, cement, dried fruit, school furniture, corsets and desks.

This preferential treatment to products from the factories of the United States will result in a greater volume of sales being made from this country in Brazil, and as trade relations become closer and more intimate, likewise a stronger friendship and a better understanding will be established between the two countries.

AN OKLAHOMA AUTHOR.

Clinton O. Bunn of this city, author of Bunn's Supplement and Notes to the Revised Laws of Oklahoma, is enjoying a nice sale of his books. The volumes have been from the publishers but a short time, but the orders are coming in so well that it seems every law office in the state will have been supplied with a copy before mid-summer. Mr. Bunn compiled a volume of the constitution and enabling act of the state. He is the author of Oklahoma civil and criminal procedure and several other books. He is painstaking in his work. He does his own proof-reading, and when he turns out a book, Oklahoma lawyers have learned to depend upon it as correct. His latest book has received the endorsement of the ablest lawyers in the state, and that endorsement has come in the most substantial way, which is by purchasing it.

Careless Lucy.

"Lucy certainly provoked me the other day. 'How so?' 'Just when I asked her to take a good look at young Higgins, she dropped her eyes.'

Catarrrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.
